

Advocates for Change

Sex Offense Issues

affecting change in Colorado's sex offense laws, policies, and attitudes

SOFT ON CRIME

In a child pornography case, a Supreme Court justice commented he feared we were “burning the house down to catch a mouse”.

If a legislator tries to back off from the frenzied mess, they are accused of being “soft” on the individual who has committed a sexual offense, their tenure certain to be shortened. No matter the studies show that the registry is ineffective as a law enforcement tool, since MOST sex offenses are committed by family members or others with a relationship to a child---teachers, preachers, coaches. Should we outlaw juvenile sports because a child might be targeted by a coach? Avoid church? Home schooling? But wait, that’s where most sex offenses occur --- right at home.

Barbara Gale; Barbara Gale is an attorney in Rome, Georgia.

Have we as a society gone nuts??

Advocates for Change (AFC) • P.O. Box 103392, Denver, CO 80250

Ph: 720-329-9096 • Email: advocates4changeafc@gmail.com • Website: advocates4change.org